Madame butterfly play

COURTESY DAVID TAKAGI Levi Hernandez, standing from left, stars as Sharpless, Karen Chia-Ling Ho as Cio-Cio-san and John Pickle as Pinkerton in “Madame Butterfly.” More than two years after the curtain came down on “The Marriage of Figaro,” opera has finally returned in full throat to Blaisdell Concert Hall with Hawaii Opera Theatre’s production of “Madame Butterfly.” Though it opened Friday, there are still two more stagings, today and Tuesday, of HOT’s lavish staging of the tragic Puccini masterpiece about the forlorn, teenage geisha, Cio-Cio-san, also known as Butterfly, who is sold as part of a “package deal” — wife, house and servants — to a wealthy, but flaky American naval officer, Pinkerton. “Butterfly” has been a favorite in Hawaii since HOT made its debut as an opera company in 1961. HOT had hoped to stage it last year in celebration of its 60th year, but the pandemic delayed that plan. This year’s production features a few firsts. The cast will be more racially consistent with the story, with singers of Asian ancestry playing the roles of the Japanese characters. While the opera is sung in Italian, another nod to the setting of the story in Japan is that the supertitles will be in English and Japanese. Performing as Cio-Cio-san for the first time will be soprano Karen Chia-Ling Ho from Taiwan, making her HOT debut. Her character is a romantic at heart, falling for Pinkerton immediately, but Ho sees some maturity in her as well. “She goes from a naive girl, but she changes from a 15-year-old, and then she becomes a wife, and then a mother,” Ho said. “And then she decides to let her child have a better life in America. ... It’s sad, but also I can see motherhood, the love of the mother.” Tenor John Pickle will play Pinkerton, and sees him not so much as a cad but as a “product of his upbringing.” “He comes from a wealthy family, and he thinks he can buy whatever he wants,” Pickle said. “At the time, he’s not thinking about the damage he might cause down the line. ... In this moment (in Act 1), he really thinks he’s going to be with her, especially once she’s shunned by her own people.” At a rehearsal earlier this week, both singers were in fine form, with Ho’s powerful, pure vocals soaring in Cio-Cio-san’s most famous aria, “Un bel di vedremo” (“One fine day”) in Act 2. She sees Cio-Cio-san’s final aria “Tu? tu? tu?” (“You? you? you?”) as “very hard,” because of its emotion. “It builds up to the limit” of her abilities, she said. She and Pickle were enchanting in the Act 1 love duet “Bimba, Bimba, non piangere” (“Sweetheart, sweetheart, do not weep”), a favorite of Pickle’s, along with the trio “Io so che alle sue pene,” (“I know her pain”) in Act 3, which occurs when Pinkerton sees his child for the first time. “It’s this really emotional, heart-wrenching moment, that’s underscored by some of the most beautiful music in the show,” he said. “It’s a great juxtaposition.” The opera features costumes by fashion designer Anne Namba, a frequent contributor to HOT productions. In an email, she said that in designing Cio-Cio-san’s silken, layered costume worn during the Act 1 love duet, she envisioned “a butterfly emerging from a chrysalis to expose a vulnerable and fragile girl,” whereas in Act II, when she prepares for Pinkerton’s return, “she is then transformed from the hardened, abandoned woman to the original butterfly by the layers of silk wings being added one at a time.” Puccini’s magnificent score, which has hints of Asian music and quotes “The Star-Spangled Banner” and “Sakura,” will be conducted by Benjamin Makino. You will also encounter 4 suits of playing cards, not unlike those of which are typically found on Aces & Faces poker games.Electrifying FeaturesThere are 2 wilds in this game. Zeus himself is wild, and since he appears expanded on the reels, the entire reel he falls on is immediately transformed into a wild reel. The Coliseum is the second wild and it substitutes all other symbols on the reels apart from Zeus’ Hand Clutching a Lightning Bolt, which is the scatter symbol. Watch out for the 2 wilds for a chance to hit more winning combinations.Free Spins & MultipliersYou will trigger the Free Spins bonus, which is a bonus that can also be retrIGGERed, by getting 3+ Zeus’ Hand Clutching a Lightning Bolt symbols on reels 2 through 6. Of course, the number of scatters on the reels determines the number of free spins awarded. Three scatters will get you 10 free spins, 4 scatters will get you 25 free spins plus 10X your total bet, while 5 scatters will get you the max 50 free spins plus 50X your total bet. You can also get 5 additional Free Spins during this bonus round by hitting 3+ scatters. The scatters during Free Spins mode appear on all reels except the 6th reel. The standard jackpot isn’t interesting as expected as it pays out 800 coins only. Nonetheless, most of your big wins will be triggered by the expanding wilds and also the Free Spins multipliers.Well Worth PlayingZeus III is a high variance slot and an incredible addition to the WMS slots list. While Zeus II was released as a Facebook slot machine, many fans were happy to finally see the release of Zeus III. Wins are a little bit hard to come by in normal play due to the fewer rolls on the left, but they tend to be worth more when they do hit. Designed by Aristocrat Gaming, one of the world’s most trusted producers of land-based slots, the slot has an Oriental theme and showcases sharp graphics as well as strong pay-outs. Despite the name, there are no toads to be found on the reels – indeed, we were rather puzzled by the title at first.If you’re a fan of Asian-themed slots, give 5 Frogs a go. Who knows, you could be bouncing all the way to the bank if you hit the jackpot!Golden Graphics5 Frogs might have a confusing title, but the slot itself is rather pleasant to look at: the gold-framed reel grid appears on a dark background and the symbols, when the reels come to a halt, loom magnificently in their columns. The presentation, on the whole, is strong. Icons include a gold lantern, a gold and silver Yin Yang symbol, pink flowers, a wishing well, a bonsai tree and six playing card symbols, from 9 through to A. All wins are formed from left to right, starting from the leftmost reel, and only the highest win is paid per line.At the bottom of the screen, you’ll find all the typical controls, which come in handy when you wish to determine your coin size, stake-per-line and number of paylines. There’s also an autoplay function you can activate, and you can click into the pay-table if you wish to view an overview of the pay-outs associated with each combination of icons. The aim, as ever, is to find three, four or five identical symbols.The Base GameThe Base Game Is All About Winning Cash. Isn’t It Ever?Unfortunately, we can’t give you a top tip or in any way influence how you’re going to do: if your luck’s in, your luck’s in. If it isn’t, we can’t help you. That’s the beauty of slot games, is it not?The gold lantern is the highest-paying symbol in the game, though as with the others, the pay-out for five in a line is much, much greater than for four or three. The lantern, for example, pays 60 for three, 125 for four and a whopping 1,250 for five. Likewise, the golden symbols which resemble compact mirrors fastened to a regal red cord: they pay 40 for three, 125 for four and a grand for five. For three pink flowers it’s 40, 125 and 1,000, while for three bonsais it’s 25, 60 and 350. For three wishing wells it’s 45, it’s 125 for four and 350 for all five.As you might expect, the playing cards are the least valuable on the board, paying 250 at the most, in the case of five Kings. The lowest pay-out associated with a playing card is five credits for three 9s in a row.Decent BonusThe 5 Frogs bonus round is triggered by landing three scatter symbols, from left to right across the reels. The scatter symbols are the Yin Yang balls. Not only do they pay three for three, six for four and 25 for five, but they activate a free spins round. You can choose an allocation of free spins between 10 and 25, each of which comes with a different multiplier attached.Five selections are available; 25 spins with random multipliers of two, three or five; 20 spins with multipliers of three, five or eight; 15 free spins with multipliers of five, eight or ten; and 13 free spins with multipliers of eight, ten and 15. The lowest number of freebies is ten and these come with multipliers of ten, 15 and 40. The choice is entirely yours. In addition, a mystery feature randomly determines the number of free spins and also the multipliers that will be offered.Asian Pleasure5 Frogs is a decent enough slot, though it’s far from being the best Asian-themed slot out there. While it’s visually appetising, the gameplay is average at best. Scatter wins are less frequent than normal given that scatters must be formed left to right, rather than wherever they lie.On the other hand, the free spins bonuses come with excellent multipliers – and the power is placed firmly in the hands of the player. If you’re enamoured with Aristocrat’s other slots, give 5 Frogs a go. As long as you don’t expect to see toads bouncing all over the screen, you’re unlikely to be too disappointed.Page 7The 5 Koi online slot is an Asian themed game that was created by Aristocrat. Among these early rulers were the Three Sovereigns and Five Emperors, whose achievements and teachings were said to have laid the foundations for an entire civilization.Three of these early leaders of the Chinese have become the basis for a series of new slot machines. 3 Emperors by Aristocrat is a series of three games that are all fairly similar in terms of features and format. But each one stars a different legendary figure from China’s past, and there are some subtle – and not so subtle – differences that might make you choose one over the others.Cultural Heroes Bring LuckThe 3 Emperors video slot series all share a similar format on which the games are based. Each features five reels and up to 100 lines, though we have also seen 50 payline versions commonly offered. In either case, the screen features a slightly expanded 4x5 layout. These games are offered up for real money online, as they appear in brick-and-mortar casinos, and have yet to make an appearance as online slots. That means that a play for free option isn’t available at this time. However, low limit players should still be relatively happy, as this can be played as a penny slot, meaning you can spend $1 or less per spin if you like.The three versions of the game are based on three distinct figures: Yu, Yao, and Shun. Each offers a slightly different color scheme, but offers many of the same features and symbols for you to match. One nice addition is the use of some “generic” symbols for the low-value prizes that aren’t just the same old card suits or ranks: instead, there are a series of gems that can earn you small prizes. Larger wins are attached to carp, tigers, and eagles. The emperors themselves offer the biggest prizes on their own machines, and each appears as a double-sized icon that can cover two spots on the layout.Unleashing the DragonsAs with most slot machines, 3 Emperors features wild symbols in the form of dragons. These can not only help make winning combinations with other icons, but they can also form their own paylines, where they offer the largest payouts possible in the standard game. There’s also a scatter symbol that only appears on the middle three reels: hit three anywhere, and you’ll not only win a small award, but you’ll find yourself in the free spins round. This special feature is one of the few places in which the various titles do a good job of differentiating themselves, at least in one case. In the Yao and Shun games, you’ll be awarded 15 free spins, and while players get the benefit of some more wilds on the reels, the game is otherwise exactly the same as in normal play.Things are a bit different with Yu. In this case, players can choose between one of the four highest-value symbols and have that take the place of the other three on the reels. You can have Yu for 11 spins, the card for 15 spins, 18 games with the tiger, or 20 with the hawk. There’s also a random option that randomizes both the symbol and the number of spins – meaning you could either do very well or very poorly, depending on how lucky you are.There are a number of other special features contained throughout these games as well. Winning combinations trigger free reel-respins where the paying symbols appeared, increasing the potential for huge payouts. There’s also a Revealed Rewards feature that can instantly give away coins – as many a 100 times the total amount of your bet on that spin. Sometimes, this becomes a Revealed Jackpots feature, in which you can take down one of the three progressive jackpots found on this series of games: minor, major, or grand, depending on how large your winning combination was that triggered the bonus.A Legendary TrioHoused in the spectacular Helix cabinet, the 3 Emperors video slot by Aristocrat is a unique and exciting addition to any casino floor. While this is generally a low volatility machine that offers more consistent small payouts rather than massive jackpots, there are opportunities to change that, either through the revealed rewards or, in the case of the Yu version of the game, by choosing a bonus version with more variance.For the most part, though, the choice of which machine to play will come down to the preferences of each gambler. If you’re in the mood for a Chinese-themed slot machine with a lot of historical flavor, then anything in the 3 Emperors line will definitely satisfy your needs.
